Fall 2026

Dear Friend,

What would you give for one more moment with someone you love?

One more conversation. One more laugh. One more opportunity to hold their hand and say the words that matter most.

When a father was nearing the end of his life, his family turned to Elizabeth, one of our hospice nurses, for compassionate care and guidance. His son later shared what that care meant to them.

> "You gave him comfort, honesty, and people around him who understood what was happening and knew what to do next. You also gave something important to us as his family: information we could trust, reassurance when he was comfortable, and a clearer understanding of where things stood when the changes came quickly."

> — Son Of A Harry Hynes Patient

His words remind us that hospice care is about more than final days. It's about comfort and reassurance for families. At Harry Hynes Memorial Hospice, we walk alongside patients and families during life's most tender moments. Providing compassionate care, support, and dignity regardless of their ability to pay.

We cannot always give families more time. But together, we can help make the time they have more meaningful.

While Medicare and insurance help cover essential hospice services, they don't fully cover every need or every layer of support that can make a meaningful difference. Your generosity helps bridge that gap and ensures every patient and family gets the care they deserve.

Will you make a special year-end gift today to help another family experience the same comfort, guidance, and compassionate care that this family and your family received?

With sincere gratitude,

Jerry Kerschen, President & CEO
